A Riddle:

You can't take it
with you, but it goes wherever you will.

What is it?

Add your own information. Reformat as necessary.
Trim to match front panel.

Answer: EVERYTHING YOU OWN!
(at the end of your life)

But when you write a will, you may. . .

- Direct where your assets and possessions will go, instead of letting the government decide.
- Name your own executor to carry out your wishes.
- Ease a difficult transition for those you love.
- Leave a lasting legacy through a bequest.
